Influenza (Flu). During this current season in the USA, since October 2019, the Flu has infected 32 million people, hospitalized 310,000 and killed 18,000. As of March 13, the number of flu deaths is over 22K.

Note: The mortality rate of the Flu is low, normally 0.1%; in this season it is actually 0.05. COVID-19 at 3.4 (estimated by WHO) is 68 times more deadly than this current Flu strain. For 32 million, 1,224,000 would have died from COVID-19.

Common Question: Why don't they quarantine for the Flu?

Expert's answer is, "To try to quarantine the flu is like trying to harness the wind." Remember the Flu and COVID-19 are transmitted in the same manner with about the same Naught (Reproductive) factor (i.e., 2-3 persons).
